“ Although I only knew Nick for the last few months, I had meaningful conversation with the a man that was full of gratitude for his blessings in life and a heart full of positive initiative. He spoke of overcoming challenges that made him a better man. He was grateful for the opportunities that his hard work had brought him. He spoke of his love for his family and his joy to be with the ones he loved. We will miss his smile and positive energy. He will always live in the hearts and minds of those that knew him.
